My South Dakota Book Teacher and Parent Guide

Teacher's Guide

Your guide to using "My South Dakota Book" with answer key and parent letter

Teacher Letter

Dear Teachers,

SDN Communications and the independent telephone companies all have deep roots in this state so we appreciate you teaching fourth graders about South Dakota. This project is our small way of helping you do that.

We have just a few suggestions on using this book.

- 1. This is the Teacher Guide for the My South Dakota Book: Hometown Snapshots. It's full of resources, answers, and the guide for the activity section. You can also find it online at:
 - sdncommunications.com/why-sdn/my-south-dakota-book
- 2. The My South Dakota Book is a workbook. Let the children do the activities and write in them. Encourage them to fill in the blank picture spots with their personal snap shots. We want this to be a keepsake and memory of their time studying South Dakota history.
- 3. Please reproduce the letter for parents on the opposite page so they know why their children get to keep this book.
- 4. Before you use the book or give it to the children, take time to read the "How to Use" paragraph on page 1 of the workbook.
- 5. After you complete this book, please fill out our survey online at www.surveymonkey.com/r/MySDBook We appreciate your input!

Sincerely,

SDN Communications, publisher sdncommunications.com/why-sdn/my-south-dakota-book 1-800-247-1442

Parent Letter

Dear parents,

Too often we think small in South Dakota. Do you ever hear your children say things like:

- · "Our school is too small to do that."
- · "Our town is too little."
- · "South Dakota is the last in everything."
- · "There's nothing to do here."

My South Dakota Book: Hometown Snapshots displays the best South Dakota has to offer in towns large and small. From our rich history to big festivals, this book covers the colorful character of this big state.

My South Dakota Book is a gift to your children from some telecommunications companies that think big. SDN Communications and the cooperative, private, municipal and tribal-owned telephone companies of South Dakota cover 80 percent of the state's geography – that's big! They've put 30,000 miles of fiber optics in the ground to move voice, data, Internet, and video – that's also big!

We hope you'll help your fourth grader do the activities included in the book, and most importantly, talk about your family's history in the state. Together we all, adults and children alike, can learn to dream a big future for our beloved state.

Sincerely, SDN Communications, publisher 1-800-247-1442

Answer Key

Answer Key for My South Dakota Book

1.) How do you think Lewis and Clark described South Dakota in 1804?

"Sea of Grass," harsh winters, met Missouri Indians and Yankton Sioux Indians, traveled up the Missouri River, rough terrain in western South Dakota, traded for supplies, met animals like bison and coyotes, met a French Trader, (Touissant Charbonneau) and Shoshoni woman Sacagawea.

2.) Why do you think citizens chose Yankton to be the capital of Dakota Territory?

On July 10, 1859, Dakota Territory was opened to settlement. In 1862, Yankton was selected as the capital of Dakota Territory because it was a popular point along the Missouri River for travelers to stop and trade. Another important event that helped to settle Yankton was the arrival of the Dakota Southern Railroad, helping to occupy the town and keep the economy growing.
